Your art needs to be a 300 dpi (dots per inch) high-resolution jpg, tif, or eps file. An eps format is common for logos. You may submit an eps image. Do not submit a png image. A “dot” (also known as a “pixel”) describes the number of discrete points that can be captured by digital cameras.

- Any pictures found on the web or uploaded to most social medias are low resolution and not suitable for print quality
 - A picture that is low-resolution cannot be made into a high-resolution photo
- A high-resolution picture is determined by its number of pixels; more pixels improve the sharpness of the picture.

Helpful tips

The amount of space a picture takes up on your computer and how long it takes to email is determined by the picture’s file size. The more pixels a picture has, the larger its file size will be.
